Dear Renee,

I apologise for not meeting the 4 August deadline to supply the requested documents. During that time my inbox was flooded with a barrage of emails while I was forced to respond to defamatory material being posted about my business on Trustpilot. This severely disrupted my ability to track and respond to other correspondence.

I only received Revenue NSW's written response to my appeal on Saturday, 9 August 2024. I am now providing all requested documents, including:

- My original review/appeal submission to Revenue NSW.
- Revenue NSW's rejection letter dated 6 August 2025.
- Supporting documents and evidence referenced in my appeal.
- Relevant Service NSW correspondence, court dismissal records, licence history, and other related files.

Kind regards,
Anthony Gordon Brodie

What we do	What we do not do
In most cases, we can investigate the administration of NSW government departments, agencies, and local councils when it seems to be wrong.	We do not have to investigate every complaint we receive. We are more likely to investigate ongoing problems or serious abuses of power.
We act independently and no government body controls us.	We do not act for parties or agencies.
Our aim is to be fair and find out the facts.	We cannot force an agency to act in the way a court can.
We seek to work out reasonable solutions in the public interest.	We do not give legal advice.
Our responsibilities	Your responsibilities when you complain
We must: • handle your complaint professionally, efficiently and fairly • keep you informed of our progress	You must: • give us a clear idea of the problem you have and the solution you want

- give you reasons for our decisions
- treat you with respect.

- give us all the relevant information you have (or know about) from the start
- tell us if new facts come up
- tell us if you no longer want our help
- cooperate with us and treat us with respect.
