Dear Abhishek,

Are you mentally impaired? Do you know how to read English correctly?

Your response completely misses the point. Simply explaining Trustpilot's general review-detection process and warning about the flagging tool does nothing to address our concerns or the evidence we provided. Jovin asked for specific proof of the issues I raised, and I supplied detailed documentation. Asking me to resend files in a certain format (PDF, JPEG, etc.) is irrelevant at this stage – we already provided the evidence in appropriate formats. That "formats" request does not excuse your failure to engage with the actual substance of my complaints. In short, you have not even acknowledged the substance of what we asked you to review.

I have now attached additional proof (three videos) clearly showing reviews and posts that you said were removed, which are in fact still publicly visible. Each video is a screen-capture demonstrating that Trustpilot (as well as Facebook, Reddit, and Discord) left up defamatory content despite our notice. The burden is not on me to reformat or resend evidence ad infinitum – your team has had ample opportunity to examine our materials, and these videos are just more irrefutable confirmation of the same problems.

This campaign of harassment and slander across social media has wreaked havoc on my business. You will recall that between July and September 2025, coordinated attacks on Facebook triggered a wave of fake one-star Trustpilot reviews, and synchronized posts on Reddit and Discord echoed the same false accusations. The financial impact has been devastating. As documented in our records, Legion Killfeed's monthly revenue halved in this period – dropping from about $1,200 in May 2025 to roughly $526 by September 2025 – and our subscriber base plunged from 139 to 72 active users. One particularly egregious fake review ("ABSOLUTE SCAM") alone caused 23 paying customers to cancel their subscriptions overnight. In short, nearly half of our customers and over half of our income vanished almost immediately following these defamatory posts. These figures come directly from our business accounts and transaction logs, and they correlate exactly with the timing of the attack coordinated on your platform and others.

The role that Trustpilot, Facebook/Meta, Reddit, and Discord played in this cannot be overstated. These platforms became a megaphone for lies about me and Legion Killfeed. On Facebook, malicious users openly incited others to post fake negative reviews and even filed baseless chargebacks, directing traffic to our profile. Discord moderators repeatedly ignored or even punished me for defending myself against doxxing and harassment, while Reddit simply let slanderous threads proliferate unchecked. Throughout this period I informed Trustpilot over 300 times (via emails and flag submissions) about the false reviews and slurs on all these sites. I even provided full logs and proof that the so-called "reviews" came from competitors or impostors. Yet your team consistently refused to act on that evidence – often reinstating or declining to remove reviews that we had proven were fake and defamatory. It took months of legal pressure just to get you to finally remove the content, and even then only after I threatened formal legal action.

All of this happened after I gave every platform – including Trustpilot – a fair chance to fix the problem. On August 10, 2025 I served a comprehensive cease-and-desist notice and legal demand listing each defamatory review (with attachments proving their falsity). Trustpilot's response was not to correct its mistakes, but to label me a "misuser" of the flagging tool as soon as possible. Even after that, your team did nothing substantive. Instead you sat on our evidence, asked for files in different formats, and filled our inboxes with boilerplate explanations about your automated detection systems. None of these evasive tactics changes the fact that Trustpilot has published blatantly false statements about my company – statements that you knew or should have known were not true. You had every opportunity to address these claims when we first raised them; your failure to do so has only multiplied the harm.

Now, due to Trustpilot's continued inaction and negligent enforcement of your own policies, I have begun the process of retaining legal counsel. We will pursue claims against Trustpilot, Meta (Facebook), Reddit, and Discord for defamation, negligence, and violations of consumer-protection and data laws. Under Australian and UK law (for example, Fairfax v. Voller in Australia) every republication of a defamatory statement after notice is treated as a new act of defamation – meaning each time your platform allowed or even reinstated a review after being told it was false, Trustpilot became freshly liable for it. Similarly, the EU's Digital Services Act (DSA) and various consumer laws impose strict duties on platforms to promptly remove illegal content once they are on notice. Trustpilot has repeatedly ignored those duties.

We are confident the law is on our side. The pattern of egregious conduct here – bots and impostors producing fake reviews, paid subscribers filing frivolous disputes, coordinated doxxing and personal slander – all facilitated by these platforms, has caused "serious harm" well above any statutory threshold. The damage to my business's reputation and bottom line is fully documented and, frankly, catastrophic. In fact, my October 5th communication (attached) outlines how Trustpilot's own records confirm this pattern: hundreds of ignored complaints, systematic bad-faith moderation (e.g. the reinstatement of proven fake reviews immediately after I pointed them out), and the extreme financial impact on Legion Killfeed. All told, the defamatory campaign across Facebook, Discord, Reddit and Trustpilot destroyed nearly half of our customer base and more than 50% of our revenue within a few months. That level of harm easily exceeds the legal standard for defamation and consumer-protection damages.

Given this reality, legal consequences are inevitable. I've even had AI review every piece of evidence and it believes this could become a landmark case regarding platform liability and the DSA's obligations. We will seek full compensatory and aggravated damages (including our legal costs) in court. I have already started preparing the documents to pursue enforcement through regulators like notifying the UK Competition and Markets Authority, the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission and eSafety Commissioner, EU DSA authorities, and any other relevant body of Trustpilot's repeated failures. I advise you to start taking this seriously and have a senior staff member take over if you're too incompetent to read correctly. If this makes it to court, I won't be going just for compensation. I will be fighting for a change so no one else has to go through so much bullshit just to get something that is absolutely a violation of your Terms of Use and all that shit. I'm so over it I don't give a shit that I'm swearing in this shit anymore, just pull your head out of your ass and do your job within the law.

There was over 300 emails between Trustpilot and myself for the month of August alone, drop the feigning innocent bullshit or go get Jovin to taken over. At least he was willing to read my emails.

In summary, we are done waiting while our evidence is dismissed and our business is ruined. We have provided you with every piece of proof you asked for (in the required formats). There is no reasonable excuse left for your inaction. Trustpilot and the other platforms had ample opportunity to fix this amicably; now our attorneys are standing by to ensure each party is held fully accountable. I hope you will finally choose the reasonable path here and resolve this matter immediately. If not, trust that we will see you in court very soon – with all the evidence laid bare.

Sincerely,

Anthony Brodie

Hello,

I understand your concerns, and I'd like to clarify how our system works. Any reviews that are genuinely fake or violate our guidelines will be identified and removed automatically by our fraud detection engines. However, some reviews may go unnoticed or may not be detected immediately, which is why the flagging option exists. You can read more about our detection systems here:

Trustpilot's automated detection technology

Please also note that repeatedly flagging the same reviews or flagging in large volumes can be considered misuse of our flagging feature. If you receive a speed-limit warning, you'll need to wait 48 hours before you can flag reviews again.

We're here to ensure the process is fair for both consumers and businesses, and we appreciate your understanding.

Kind regards,

Abhishek A,
Content Integrity Team

We are rated 4.4 out of 5

Hi,

This is Arjun from the Trustpilot Content Integrity team.

We understand your concern regarding the "misuse of the flagging tool."

We want to clarify that businesses are warned if they flag a large number of negative reviews inappropriately. If a business flags multiple reviews with invalid reasons (example: flagged for advertising or personal information without containing any kind of advertising or personal information in the review), these flags are considered invalid, and if the number reaches a certain threshold, it is treated as misuse of the flagging tool.

Please note that we do not remove reviews simply because a business flags them or dislikes them. Each review is carefully investigated based on the flagged reason, and only after this investigation do we make a decision on whether to keep it online.

Our recommendation is to use the flagging tool wisely by selecting the most appropriate reason for each review, rather than using random reasons in an attempt to remove a review. You can find more guidance on this in the following article: article link <[https://help.trustpilot.com/s/article/What-happens-if-businesses-misuse-the-review-flagging-tool?language=en\_US>].

Best regards,

Arjun,
Content Integrity Team

Hi Jovin,

Thanks for your message.

Before I resend anything, please confirm your role and which team actually has carriage of this matter. You signed as Content Integrity, but prior messages in the chain reference Legal. I need to know who is responsible for the decision making on this case.

On formats:

Your request says "PDF, JPEG, or screenshot." "Screenshot" is not a file type, and your list omits PNG even though screenshots are typically PNG. Please confirm in writing whether PNG is acceptable. If you insist on JPEG only, say so explicitly and I will include converted copies alongside originals.

Health note:

I am working through pneumonia and cluster migraines. That has affected speed at moments, not substance. I will still deliver a complete, reviewable package as outlined below.

Delivery method:

I will provide a password-protected URL that contains:

A button to download the entire zipped folder containing all files and, where appropriate, multiple viewing formats.

A comprehensive interactive timeline that lets you open each item in context on the correct date and review the materials in sequence.

Recap of what has already occurred:

Date(s)

Event/Action

Details/Notes

28 Jul 2025

Coordinated push, 1-star reviews

Flagging begins immediately

01 Aug 2025

Multiple review events

Flags pending, reports and evidence submitted

02 Aug 2025

First formal legal notice sent

"WARZONE" reinstated; more flags, notices, negative reviews

03-04 Aug 2025

System messages, decisions

"Does not breach" results despite mismatch and policy calls

05 Aug 2025

More flags/decisions, escalation

Detailed notices, auto-responses, new tickets

06 Aug 2025

Report closed, review stays online

ABN requested, more "does not breach" decisions, new tickets

02-07 Aug 2025

Internal handling gap

Ticket created 02 Aug, not seen by human until 07 Aug

07 Aug 2025

Multiple team handoffs

Compliance, Privacy, Content Integrity; no clear owner; new tickets

08 Aug 2025

Contradictory moderation outcomes

Sequence documented, timestamps preserved

09 Aug 2025

"Move to correct domain" instruction

Reviewer fails to comply; later "does not breach" outcome

10 Aug 2025

Cease and Desist served

Auto-responses, new tickets, claim of "misuse of flagging tool" rebutted

11 Aug 2025

Acknowledgements, no removal

Publication continues

10-11 Aug 2025

ABN sequence, still no disclosure
Acknowledgements, no ABN or valid service contact
12 Aug 2025
Dispute/acknowledgment traffic
Decisions do not address mismatch or prior notice
13 Aug 2025
Additional decision notices
On flagged items
14 Aug 2025
Boilerplate response
Does not engage with submitted evidence
15 Aug 2025
ABN sequence, refusal/deflection
Message refers to Legal, no ABN or specific contact
16-17 Aug 2025
Automated follow-ups, decision traffic
No clarity on responsible entity or service details
18 Aug 2025
ABN provided
Australian contact path identified, confirmation requested
19 Aug 2025
Further decision messages
No consistent explanation for "move" vs "does not breach"
20 Aug 2025
ABN sequence, backtrack/shift
Position shifts, request for accountable owner and binding directions
21-22 Aug 2025
More review/flag traffic
Direct call for engagement due to ongoing publication
28 Aug 2025
Legal treats matter as "closed"
Closure rejected, publication ongoing, no clear ABN/service owner
01 Sept 2025
Republication after legal "closed"
Material reinstated while on notice, before mandatory wait period ended
02 Sept 2025
Final warnings, preservation requests
For complete moderation/audit trail
08 Sept 2025
Package compiled
Documents 01 Sept republication after legal "closed," timestamped
10-11 Sept 2025
Request to resend in specific formats
Asked for PDF, JPEG, or screenshot; PNG omitted; role/department unclear, should be legal only
Unresolved issues that require clear answers:
Republication after notice and after legal "closed"
You have not explained how reinstating on 01 Sept 2025 comports with your own policies, given notice and the 28 Aug "closed" status. That sequence aggravates damages.
Internal delay
There was a week-long gap between your ticket being opened and a human seeing it while publication continued.
Explain how that met your obligations.

Conflicting direction

You instructed a reviewer to move a review to a different domain, the reviewer did not comply by your deadline, yet later decisions still say "does not breach" for reasons that contradict the "move" instruction.

Below is the real file-name structure of the communications timeline that will appear in the portal's interactive timeline. Each item will open at its exact date on the timeline and be viewable in-browser, with the option to download the entire set via the zip button.

Please confirm:

1. Whether PNG screenshots are acceptable alongside PDF and JPEG. If you require JPEG only, say so explicitly.
2. That you will review via the password-protected portal I provide.
3. That you have preserved the complete moderation and audit trail, including flags, reinstatement or decision logs, user actions, IP or device logs, timestamps, and internal communications.
4. The names or titles of the decision-makers responsible for the 02 Aug and 01 Sept reinstatements, and for the 06 Aug and 28 Aug "stayed online/closed" decisions.
5. The correct legal point of contact and corporate identifier in Australia for service.

If you can provide your preferred file format, I'll be able to get this done faster, otherwise, I'll email within 48hrs with the URL and password regardless of your response and a week from the minute it is sent, I will file in NSW Supreme Court and begin the more extensive reporting to regulatory bodies and escalate with every single one of them until they hold Trustpilot accountable for breaking the law and violating my rights whilst slandering my business.

Anthony Brodie

Hi Anthony,

Thanks for your email and for outlining your concerns. To review the materials you've referenced, could you please resend the supporting evidence and attachments in PDF, JPEG, or screenshot format? This will help ensure we can open and assess all files properly.

Once we've received the documentation in one of these formats, we'll review your case in line with our guidelines and policies.

Best regards,

Jovin J,
Content Integrity Team

Subject: Final Legal Notice – Retaliatory Conduct and Continued Publication of Defamation After Notice

To all recipients,

On 10 August 2025, mere hours after being served with a formal cease-and-desist (attached), Trustpilot issued a baseless and retaliatory accusation of "misuse of the flagging tool" against my business, Legion Killfeed. This response is not only false but transparently punitive and further escalates the serious legal exposure Trustpilot now faces.

Let me state this unequivocally: Trustpilot has been given multiple formal legal notices identifying specific reviews that breach its own policies and multiple laws (UK Defamation Act 2013, EU Digital Services Act, Australian common law defamation, and criminal codes). These include reviews by:

"Cunt" – obscene username, no genuine experience, slanderous content

"WARZONE" – coordinated posting tied to rival service

“Danny Hayes” – UK-based competitor openly inciting attacks

“Brett Jones” – defamatory statements online and in Discord, documented as part of an abuse campaign

“Robert McDonovan” – whose review has been proven to be from a non-customer (see attached logs)

Despite more than a dozen flagged instances and detailed documentation, including Discord logs and screenshots, Trustpilot has failed to take comprehensive action. Instead, after receiving a legally binding cease-and-desist naming individual staff and citing defamation, your team launched a retaliatory "misuse" allegation — in what appears to be a blatant attempt to intimidate a small Australian business into silence. This email places Trustpilot and all named recipients on final legal notice:

Immediate Demands:

Remove all defamatory reviews identified in prior correspondence (see attachments).

2.

Withdraw the retaliatory “misuse” allegation immediately and confirm in writing.

3.

Preserve all logs, internal messages, moderation decisions, and IP metadata related to reviews and flagging for all named users.

Failure to comply within 72 hours will result in:

Immediate civil action under UK and Australian defamation law

Referral to:

UK Competition & Markets Authority

Australian Competition and Consumer Commission

EU DSA enforcement coordinators

Danish Forbrugerombudsmanden

Australian eSafety Commissioner

Individual staff responsible for publication, inaction, or retaliation may be named as defendants

The publication of defamatory, obscene, and fabricated content by known competitors and former users — after formal notice — constitutes an ongoing legal violation. Trustpilot has been given ample opportunity to act. It has chosen to retaliate instead.

This ends today.
