To Trustpilot Content Integrity / Trustpilot Legal,

This is a formal concerns notice sent on the 2nd July 2026 via email only.

Before Trustpilot sends another generic moderation response, the issue needs to be understood in context. The review is not merely negative feedback. It is a false and defamatory publication being maintained after notice. It also appears to be an abuse by Trustpilot who I rightfully have no trust in given Trustpilot's illegal denial of having an Australian Business Number in August 2025 that still has not been responded about once.

Trustpilot has already been provided with extensive evidence. My current evidence archive contains 2,338 evidence items, 458 dated entries with 1,068 Trustpilot-related records across 203 dates and 159 distinct Trustpilot ticket, case, or request references.

The Trustpilot damages/report summary records 18 one-star Trustpilot reviews, 928 cumulative visibility days, 563 Trustpilot-related emails, and 72 reinstatements/republications before the later removals. That was before these newest July 2026 publications.

The "Killfeed review" account is especially serious because the same Trustpilot profile shows a 1 July 2023 TeamViewer review where TeamViewer replied to the reviewer as "Hi Mathew". That directly supports the identity and linkage concerns already raised with Trustpilot about Mathew Trojanowski, also known through the evidence as Kamikaze / Kami / Kamy / Kamikaze420 / Anon PVP / Brief_Ordinary1438 / Obviously_Mario / Skynet, and repeated competitor-linked review attacks against Legion Killfeed.

This is not isolated. Trustpilot has already received repeated correspondence, evidence, and legal notice about review abuse targeting Legion Killfeed, DayZ Multi Tool, and related profiles. The evidence includes, among other records:

- UK police reference: 43250388789.
- Trustpilot ABN disclosure request: #00239391.
- Ray Smith review defamation case: #02649286.
- New Trustpilot decision email: #02924287.
- New Trustpilot update email: #02920251.
- DayZ Multi Tool / Kyle review records: #01164686 and #38931812.
- Major repeated Trustpilot ticket clusters including #37049350, #36723684, #34628817, #01067484, #36755418, #37940331, #28160563, #36629468, #01086918, #01164210, #01179644, #00713084, #00713224, #39666963, #00697534, #00780964, #28528230, #35389509, and #38210515.

The DayZ Multi Tool Kyle review alone was recorded as being visible for 559 days, involving 91 emails, 6 reinstatements, and 18 related ticket numbers. That review was eventually taken offline, but only after Trustpilot had already been given evidence that the review was fabricated and competitor-linked. Trustpilot cannot now pretend a new "Kyle" review against Legion Killfeed is disconnected from the history.

I also have records of 382 separate email communications, over 13 takedown requests, a 56% revenue plunge, active subscriptions falling from 139 to 72, and 23 clients lost after one "ABSOLUTE SCAM" review. Trustpilot has been told repeatedly that continued publication causes serious reputational and financial harm.

The newest reviews are generic, unsupported, and appear designed to lower my TrustScore rather than report a genuine customer experience. They do not identify a real transaction, support interaction, customer account, server, Discord account, subscription, or specific service experience with Legion Killfeed. They appeared shortly after another disputed review and fit the same pattern already reported to Trustpilot. But I couldn't give a fuck about a stupid score system when you're allowing fraud to cause financial harm to my business with your illegal republication bullshit. The cunts reviews do not identify a real transaction, support interaction, customer account, server, Discord account, subscription, or specific service experience with Legion Killfeed.

It appears shortly after another near identical review and fits the same pattern already reported to Trustpilot. What's more concerning is both, how Trustpilot allowed clear attempts at review bombing to take place when your own records show the latest fraud shit were 4 fucking minutes apart, less than 6 hours after you were put on legal notice for the other disputed review where a user (who acts the same way Mathew Trojanowski, the killfeed.com competitor AKA Kamikaze/Kami/Kamy (the same reviewer/competitor you scumbags tried to say deleted his review when I caught you deleting flagging & republication evidence after I reported you to the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission) is attempting to extort a refund after they removed their own access which you already know about because you saw the proof.

I am not asking Trustpilot to "middle man" a dispute and I couldn't give a fuck about your stupid guidelines so don't act like you can break the law then excuse it with "Guidelines, guidelines", if you cannot rectify it and feel the need to reply referencing Guidelines, you are admitting to committing a crime because your workplace demands it when the law is clear, that'd be rather stupid to do, I would suggest stopping what you are doing right now and take this to someone with the authority to abide by the law without being illegally restricted to ineffective and intentionally vague guidelines.

I am demanding that Trustpilot stop republishing defamatory and abusive content after actual notice. The Ray Smith review is also part of this context: that reviewer removed his own access path, then reframed the situation as if Legion Killfeed cut him off mid-subscription, while using Trustpilot as leverage around a refund dispute.

Trustpilot has already been on actual notice of the wider history, including Kyle/Cactus fake-review evidence, DayZ Multi Tool review abuse, Trustpilot post-notice refusal records, Ray Smith evidence, and repeated review abuse across Legion Killfeed and related profiles. Trustpilot has already sent generic AI/moderation responses despite that history. That is no longer acceptable.

I demand immediate removal of the current defamatory and abusive reviews, including the Ray Smith review, the "Killfeed review" review, and the "Kyle" review.

Trustpilot has already been on actual notice of the wider history, including Kyle/Cactus fake-review evidence left on my other bot DayZ Multi Tool. Trustpilot republished that one post-notice about 50 times before you actually removed the fraud you slandered my business with. Continued illegal behaviour regarding my brand will result in an additional criminal complaint with the Australian Federal Police as it has reached a point where you cannot reasonably claim to be innocent, leaving all who read the facts and actually abide by the law, with one simple, logical and reasonable inference to make:

Your defamation is wilful and intentional targeting of my brand after repeated legal notice

Which still remains uncontested despite being repeatedly asserted, if Trustpilot refuses to remove this review, I require a formal written refusal from Trustpilot Legal identifying the exact legal basis relied upon to continue publishing it after actual notice of the prior evidence and identity-linkage concern. If you refuse removal of all 3 defamatory lies, ignores this notice, delay outside legally permissible timeframes or continue publication, I will proceed with both criminal and civil actions without further warning. Continued publication after this notice will be relied on as knowing republication after actual notice of falsity, serious harm, and platform abuse.

I have a feeling this is being AI-screened and not actually reaching a human and for that reason and that reason alone I am adding this hyperbole:

Treat this as seriously as you would a bomb threat. I am not saying I am making a bomb threat at all, I am requesting you treat this like receiving the email itself would blow the roof off your shitty little offices.

EXPLOSIONS! BANG. OFFICES BLOWN TO SMITHEREENS.

For clarity I do not know how to make anything like that, I have no intention of learning how to either and if I was going to be an idiot, I'd be funny about it but I don't break the law unless I have no other options, so it should not actually be treated like a bomb threat, I am merely using that wording to ensure it hits enough red flags so your stupid AI shit panics and flags it to one of your retard employees might actually read this before immediately replying with another generic response.

Now I know how prickly you cunts are so, to be clear as fuck.

If Trustpilot continues to publicly associate its website, rating system, snippets, review pages, and profile content with my business while refusing to properly remove abusive and false publications after notice when that continued public association has already been causing reputational and commercial harm. If Trustpilot refuses to remove the abusive and false reviews, then Trustpilot must remove, suppress, de-index, and cease publishing all identifiable public association between Trustpilot and Legion Killfeed. This includes the Legion Killfeed Trustpilot business profile, all reviews, ratings, review counts, profile snippets, public replies, review pages, widgets, cached pages, structured-data output, syndicated results, and search-preview content identifying Legion Killfeed, Anthony Brodie, Soul, my ABN, my email address, my domains, or my business reputation through Trustpilot.

Trustpilot cannot claim a legitimate basis to keep publicly processing this content while refusing to properly address repeated review abuse, defamation, harassment, and commercial harm after actual notice and I will be demanding removal of the public Trustpilot association with Legion Killfeed if Trustpilot refuses to remove the abusive reviews.

If Trustpilot refuses this privacy and erasure demand, I require a formal written refusal from Trustpilot Privacy or Trustpilot Legal identifying the exact legal basis relied upon to continue processing, publishing, indexing, and associating this material with me and my business.

Subject: Decision on the review you've flagged - Case #02924287

Hi Anthony Brodie,

Thanks for your inquiry about the review by Killfeed review, which you flagged for containing defamatory content.

The assessment

When a review is flagged for this reason, we run it through our AI-powered defamation tool. This tool considers whether the content you've identified, in the context of the whole review, is likely to cause serious harm to someone's reputation or serious financial loss to a business.

Keep in mind that while you may consider the content to be negative, this is different from being defamatory.

The decision

In this case, we've assessed the review and determined that the content you've identified is not defamatory. Therefore, we've reinstated the review and won't be taking any further action.

Tell your side of the story

You can always reply to this review to address feedback and share your side of the story. Replies appear alongside the review, giving readers the full picture from both perspectives. This builds credibility, shows empathy, and can turn critics into loyal customers.

If you have any questions, please let us know by replying to this email.

Thanks,
